GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Bill Passes the House Without Opposition

(Special to the Bulletin.)
Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 10.—The bill incorporating the Grand Trunk Pacific and the railway commission bill passed today without opposition.

McLean moved for a two-cent passenger rate in amendment to the commission bill. This was declared lost without a formal vote.

Another motion for a two and a half cent rate east of York Arthur, was defeated by 45 to 35, as the amendment had the effect of a want of confidence motion and was chiefly supported by the opposition and opposed by the government, but a number of government supporters voted for it.

The Grand Trunk Pacific aid resolutions come up tomorrow. Ex-Minister Blair is expected to declare himself, but there is no indication of what attitude he will take.

Wild Man Still at Large

(Special to the Bulletin.)
Heresay, N.W.T., Aug. 11.—The wild man to whom we referred in our dispatch of the eighth has since visited several houses for food. He is a white man, probably suffering from some form of insanity. He is only half-clad and as he is armed with a rifle has caused a great deal of anxiety to the community. The police have been operating and it was said that the wild man had been surrounded in a bluff. However, the police have returned without capturing him, although it is expected he will be secured soon.

Heresay is about twenty-five miles west of Hatzic.

Mr. Allan Sloan, late of the Macdonald pharmacy, Edmonton, has accepted a position with the International Correspondence School of Scranton, on a branch of the Seattle agency.

LOCAL.

The population of the city of Ottawa, Ont., is 76,152.

W. J. Beltrame has been appointed game guardian for the Coronation school district.

Nominations for the general elections in British Columbia take place on October 15th, polling two weeks later.

The annual report of the department of agriculture of the local legislature has been received at this office.

A synopsis of the report will appear in a later issue of this paper.

Of the 12,800 newspapers published in the world, 19,700 are published in North America, and 6,050 in the United Kingdom. Russia has only 743 newspapers or one to every 170,000 people.

The Red Deer Advocate has been taken over by the Alberta Advocate Publishing Company, Limited.

Mr. Everett is editor. The paper has made great strides of progress during the past year.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier informed a deputation of Winnipeg Catholics that they must look to the provincial government for redress in educational matters, as such affairs are provincial under the British North America act.

One of the best things said lately was by a Missouri editor. In addressing a class he said: "Fame has taken men from the forge, the plow and the carpenter's bench, but she has never known to reach over a picket fence and snatch a dude out of a hammock."

The secretary of the Edmonton baseball club has received a letter from E. V. Cooke, secretary of the Red Deer club, saying that Red Deer is going to hold a baseball tournament on Thursday and Friday, the 27th and 28th of this month. A first prize of $150 and a second of $50 will be given. The Edmonton club team has been invited to join in the tournament.

Little's brick yard is running at full blast. The immense length of sheds are packed full of bricks awaiting sunny weather to dry them. Forty men are employed and the firm has now on hand orders for 1,800,000 bricks. The only trouble is that the plant's capacity does not allow them to fill half the orders that come from Calgary, Wetaskin, Leduc, Fort Saskatchewan, Strathcona, Edmonton and other places.

Prince Albert Advocate.—Mr. R. Stanley, of Stanley & Gerard, contractors, was in town last week, and to an Advocate reporter stated that work on the Canadian Northern grade was being pushed rapidly by several contractors, and that he expected to see the line completed in about thirty days. His own firm have 50 teams and 25 men at work, and have just been awarded the contract of grading another mile east of Melville, as well as the sidings and stations at that point. Their work has been highly commended by Chief Engineer Macleod, and they are making arrangements to put on a largely increased force next season. Mr. Stanley says the road is sure to be constructed into Prince Albert next year.

The basement of the Presbyterian church was crowded last night to hear Sergt. Major school, the Boer-Brilliant soldier of Fort Mankling, lecture on South Africa. The lecture was intensely interesting and the humorous stories which he interspersed his lecture kept the people in the best of humor. The lecture was very instructive. The history of the Transvaal Boer was traced from their origin at the Cape to the time the British exerted a protectorate over the Boers on their own invitation.

The Boers got with the Zulus and allied tribes was vividly described, and the attitudes of the Boers to the British, their rescuers, was fully explained. At the close of the lecture eight young men were dressed up in native uniforms and put through a drill which caused much amusement. The Sergt. Major then gave an excellent exhibition of sword drill. The walls of the school room were decorated with robes, rugs, feathers, tusks, Boer and native weapons, steel armor and war and hunting accoutrements. This evening's lecture will be given on the further causes leading up to the Boer-Brilliant war and also on the life among the Boers in South Africa. Another part of this evening's entertainment will be the description of several exciting hunting adventures in South Africa.

SILVER FOX PELTS

Colin Fraser Down From the North With Thirty-Four

The fact that a trader brought fourteen silver fox pelts into Winnipeg a few weeks ago was sufficient to cause the Free Press to devote considerable space to a write-up of the collection. It heralded it with the following headlines: "Have Fourteen Silver Fox Pelts," "An Unusual Collection of These Costly Furs in Winnipeg," "Worth Thousands." The following paragraphs appear in the Free Press article:

"The silver fox is considered a very scarce animal and fur buyers state that he is a freak of the animal kingdom and hence his pelt is hard to secure. It is only once in a while that one is brought in and when these are secured in two and three the circumstance causes some comments amongst the fur trading community. During a recent trip to the Yukon, however, Mr. Herman Telke, of Telke & Finkelstein, made all records by securing fourteen of these rare and valuable pelts, and they now lie stored in the warehouse of the Northwest Hide company, on Rupert street. The firm is very proud of the fact that they have been able to secure so many of these skins at one time and state that it is nothing short of a phenomenal. In addition they also have a large collection of very fine sable and marten pelts, and also a souvenir of that notorious foe of the trapper, the wolverine, in the shape of his skin. The furs now in stock at the warehouse constitute, it is claimed, the largest collection ever brought into the city outside of the Hudson Bay company."

So much for Winnipeg. Colin Fraser, an individual trader at Fort Chipewyan, arrived in Edmonton yesterday with the following collection of furs: Marten, 1,250; lynx, 254; musk, 1,202; beaver, 261; otter, 87; fisher, 18; wolverine, 30; musk ox robes, 20; musk ox specimens, 14; cross foxes, 16; red foxes, 106; bears, 104; white foxes, 26; skunk, 31; volves, 6; castor, 30 pounds; rats, 17,015; silver foxes, 34.

The Free Press claimed that the batch of furs to which it referred broke all records. The furs which Mr. Fraser brought into Edmonton are vastly superior to those, so we claim that Edmonton holds the record for the largest batch of valuable furs ever brought into a point in Canada by an individual trader.

Conditions of the Rhodes Scholarship in Canada

The conditions for the Rhodes scholarship have been issued and are now in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor. The main features are as follows:—Scholars will be chosen between February and May, 1904. The chosen scholars will commence residence at Oxford in October, 1904. It has been decided that all scholars shall have at least reached the end of their Sophomore (second) year work at some registered degree-granting university or college in Canada. All candidates in addition to their university standing must pass a special preliminary examination equivalent to the Responsions of Oxford, the first public examination exacted by the university from each candidate for a degree. This preliminary will be held at the beginning of the year at such centres as may be announced later. This examination is not competitive, but is intended to give assurance that all candidates are fully qualified to enter on a course of study at Oxford university.

The requirements of this preliminary examination are as follows: Arithmetic, the whole and either Algebra or Geometry; the amount of work in Algebra and Geometry is almost equivalent to that demanded in our Canadian universities. Latin and Greek grammar and authors with translation of English into Latin prose are also required. In authors candidates must offer two books, one Greek and one Latin, or unseen translations. A list of optional books has been prescribed of which the following will illustrate the extent of the work: Homer's Iliad, books 2-5; Odyssey, books 1-5, or 2-6; Sophocles' Antigone, and Ajax; Caesar, De Bello Gallico, 1-4; Horace, Odes, 1-4. The trustees of the Rhodes' Trust appoint the examiners who set and read the papers.

Scholars must be unmarried, must be between nineteen and twenty-five years of age. No candidates will be barred because of religion or color. Candidates who purpose presenting themselves for the qualifying examination in scholarship must notify the chairman of the committee of selection during the month of January, 1904, of their intention to write. One candidate will be chosen from the Northwest Territories.

A committee of five for the selection of candidates who have passed the academic test will be chosen by His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, and the judges of the supreme court.

Copies of Oxford response papers for the past year can be obtained from the Copp, Clark Co., Toronto. The Students' Handbook of Oxford, and a circular at the same address. These pamphlets, "Oxford As It Is," may be publications give full information regarding the university. The Oxford agent of the Rhodes' trustees, F. J. Wylie, Esq., Oxford, will answer any particular information regarding the colleges and courses of study there.

WONDERFUL CANADA

Under the above heading the Scottish American published at New York, says:—

While certain individuals have been absurdly and wrongfully asserting that Canada's only hope for development and prosperity lies in annexation to the United States, the Dominion has opportunely demonstrated the very opposite—that they solely rest in her remaining contentedly as she is, a loyal part of the great British empire. The Dominion has just been celebrating the thirty-sixth anniversary of her formation—the union of the various provinces—in the 27th Commonwealth and in connection therewith has published statistics showing a most wonderful development and prosperity within this short period, a far greater growth than even the most sanguine or hopeful could have conceived as possible had she continued otherwise than she has done, and is ever likely to do through future ages.

Just to take for illustration the last fiscal year, ending with June 30th, the Dominion imports and exports together, foreign and domestic, amounted to $167,637,049. This is an increase of no less than $45,750,000 over the preceding year. That trade, too, was purely Canadian; that is, the exports were composed of Canadian produce and manufactures only and of imports actually entered for consumption. In 1896, just seven years before, that trade was only $220,502,817, or less than one-half. With these figures before him what rational individual will assert that in order to progress and prosper Canada must annex herself to the United States?

Since 1896 Canada's exports of domestic produce have nearly doubled, while the exports of animals and their products and the produce of the farm have increased by at least 130 per cent. During that time the exports of the Canadian forests have increased about one-third, and those of manufactures more than doubled. Such increases are simply unparalleled elsewhere in the whole history of the world's commerce.

There has at the same time been a notable increase in Canada's population. Immigration to Canada, however, is not yet so great as it is to the United States. Probably this is because Canada is not so well known as the United States in Italy and other countries whence multitudes of most undesirable immigrants swarm here. That kind of immigrants Canada does not want; besides the Dominion would not suit their purpose. Hosts of desirable immigrants, after a trial of the United States, are seeking permanent homes in Canada. At present, too, Canada is making a special effort to induce desirable immigrants to settle within her bounds. These efforts are being attended with great success, and large though her unoccupied area is, we have little doubt that soon Canada will be receiving all the immigrants she wants and that of the most desirable kind.

Even our contemporary here the New York Sun, that has so long advocated annexation, seems now convinced that such a thing will never take place and candidly acknowledges that without it "Canada has a great future before her. Her people live in abundant comfort if not in luxury. Schools and churches abound, and peace, law and order prevail. Her admirable banking system averts serious commercial and financial panics. Canada has much in her past to which she reverts with pride, and she looks forward to a future filled with abundance of peace and plenty." That from the Sun! Will Mr. Carnegie be the next convert?

AGRICOLA

A number of English people are settling in the Agricola district, mostly purchasing improved farms. They are erecting good buildings and are quite an acquisition to the settlement.

Crops are generally excellent through the Agricola district, certainly as good if not better than during the past six years. The roads also are much improved as most of the farmers have given work gratis for the first time. Four days work instead of two to each quarter section counts, when the foundation of the roadbed is already prepared as it has been by work done in previous years. Mr. Hanlon makes a good overseer.
